

SOAKING IN THE SUN AND SAND

Overlooking the sea where the mood and music shift seamlessly from dusk to dawn, The Park on Holiday Beach is located on the border of two of Goa's most popular and lively beaches – Candolim and Calangute. Priyanka Chakrabarti takes pleasure in what it has to offer.

Commanding a view over the majestic and versatile Arabian Sea, The Park on Holiday Beach is a brand new boutique hotel at the heart of the buzzing Calangute strip in North Goa. Spotless beach views, verdant tropical rainforests and a carefree bohemian ardour welcome guests at this property with much love. This nine-month old beachfront jewel is a charming retreat that surfaces layers of Goa's well-known music milieu whilst celebrating life and culture in Goa.

Monsoon in Goa is stereotyped as 'off season'. However, it is rather pleasant for Indians accustomed to the rain. As you land in Dabolim airport, the mystic sea-scented breeze embraces you with much warmth. The cosmopolitanism fiercely blended with quintessential flavours of Goan culture leave you rather bewildered wanting to surrender to nature and the dexterity of the beautiful ocean.

Facing the gigantic blue sea, this property stands tall with much élan on the beach. Blessed benignly by virtue of scenic beauty, The Park on Holiday Beach is done up with pristine white décor, featuring a turquoise blue pool, bright purple and violet hued lighting and expatiated stretches of golden sand. This place certainly instils a feeling of oneness with the world.

As you step into this hotel, you can't stop admiring its matchless tenor. It showcases the best of Goa's signature attributes – great food, electrifying music, gorgeous rooms, an array of beverage choices, therapists to pamper your mind and body, and humble hospitality.

The stunning views of the spotless beach, magnificent sunsets and refreshing breezes from the Arabian Sea set the stage for romance, relaxation and rejuvenation.

Speaking about the hotel and the charm of Goa, Sanjeev Dhingra, owner of this property, says, "Goa is one of our country's most visited tourist destinations with an ever increasing influx of guests from across the globe. With scenic delights, exotic locales and unlimited party options, Goa is idyllic and popular amongst discerning travellers. We are delighted to partner with The Park Hotels in bringing out this chic property. The hotel is truly the reflection of our design sensibility and eye for detailing. We look forward to presenting an exclusive hospitality experience to our guests."

The stylish and relaxed mood of the hotel blends delightfully with the
